

Plan green, think blue

- wedi products contain a minimum of 25% recycled polystyrene material, and our research and development team is consistently looking for alternative renewable raw materials.
- wedi has been committed to environmental protection for many years and is ISO (International Organization for Standardization) 14001 and 5001 certified.
- Your investment in wedi quality products extends the lifetime of your shower, consequently reducing the usage of materials in your house over time.
- wedi combines multiple performances in few modular products, which reduces logistics and packaging waste.
- wedi products naturally protect against mold and mildew. Additionally, they defend organic structures below wedi products, extending the lifetime of construction and improving the healthy environment inside your home.
- wedi floor warming systems are naturally insulating, which helps you lock in heat and save energy.
